

Dr. Giusi Condorelli serves as Director of the Office for the Internationalization and Promotion of Research Infrastructures within the General Directorate of Research and Innovation at the Italian Ministry of Health. She leads initiatives to strengthen Italy's international engagement in health research, foster collaborations, and promote excellence in scientific infrastructure. She previously served as Health Attaché at the Embassies of Italy in Washington D.C. and Beijing, advancing health diplomacy and international cooperation, including during the early stages of the COVID-19 pandemic.

A physician by training, Dr. Condorelli is specialized in gastroenterology and held key roles at the Italian Ministry of Health for over 17 years.